

My Toy Is Not the Same Anymore

Written and Designed by:
Siraj Haddaden

My Toy Is Not the Same Anymore

A Short Story for Children Aged 3–10 Years

Written and Designed by:
Siraj Haddaden

Adventurer Meme

Age: 8 years

Characteristics: Intelligent, cheerful, and passionate about art, sports, music, and exploration.

Hobby: Solving puzzles and creating maps.

Adventurer Owen

Age: 6 years

Characteristics: Brave, curious, and passionate about technology, sports, music, and exploration.

Hobby: Seeking ancient treasures and crafting tools

Super Mom

Characteristics: Warmth, love, and attentiveness.

Hobby: Protecting, problem-solving, and nurturing.

One quiet afternoon, Mimi was playing with her brother Aoun in the living room. They decided to build a castle out of blocks, and Mimi's favorite toy – her little doll – was guarding the castle gate.

Mimi said excitedly,

"Don't forget! This is my doll. No one touches her but me!"

Aoun laughed and said, "Okay, brave castle guard!"

But while playing, Aoun moved quickly by accident, and the doll fell – its arm broke off.

Mimi screamed,

"What did you do?! You broke it!"

She got really angry, grabbed a block and threw it on the floor, breaking it too.

Then she sat in the corner and started crying.

Mom came in quickly and looked at Mimi gently.

She asked, "What's wrong, Mimi? Why all this anger?"

Mimi replied with a shaky voice:

"Aoun broke my toy... and I love it so much..."

Mom sat beside her and patted her shoulder.

She said, "I understand you're sad, sweetie, but did getting angry help?
Or did it make things worse?"

Mimi was quiet for a moment, then said, "I think it made it worse... I also broke my blocks."

Aoun came closer and said:

"I'm sorry, Mimi. I didn't mean to. Can we forgive each other?"

Mimi looked at him and smiled, "Yes... and I'm sorry I got so mad."

Mom added:

"It's okay to feel angry, but what's important is learning how to calm down and talk. Next time, take a deep breath, count to ten, and say what's bothering you."

Mimi nodded, "Okay Mama, I'll practice that."

Then they all tried to fix the doll and continued playing — this time, gently and happily.

© 2025 Siraj Haddaden

All rights reserved. No part of this story may be copied or republished in any form without prior written permission from the author.

Printing and Publishing:

MO Kids World

www.mokidsworld.com

ISBN: _____

Book Dimensions:

11.697 × 8.27 inches (square)

This book was printed in Jordan.

First Edition, June 2025.

For inquiries or bulk–purchase orders:

info@mokidsworld.com

All rights reserved to “MO Kids World.”

Thank you for reading! We wish you ongoing enjoyment and discovery.

Mo Kids World Family

